Risk management, safety consultation and loss control information and suggestions are presented by PSA for your consideration. The information and suggestions do not purport to identify all hazards associated with your business, nor do they guarantee that accidents will be prevented. Additionally, any inspection report or suggested loss control techniques do not warrant that such property or operations are safe, healthful or compliant with any law, rule or regulation. You are encouraged to adapt these suggestions to the specific hazards of your business and to have your legal counsel review all of your plans and company policies.

Summaries of insurance quotes and coverage are for illustration purposes only. They are not a legal contract, and are not a substitute for the insurance policy. The actual policy terms, conditions, limits and exclusions will govern in the event of a claim. To review the insurance policies before binding coverage, sample copies are available upon request. In providing summaries to you, we have relied on the information you shared with us. If any areas were omitted and should be included, please bring them to our attention as soon as possible and before coverage is bound. Similarly, if any changes occur in your business operations or exposures after coverage is bound, you must let us know at once so that we may promptly discuss coverage implications.
